DEPARTMENTS OF INSTRUCTION.

COLLEGE DEPARTMENT.

Our college instruction being carried on conjointly with that of the Atlanta Baptist College, the College Course is like theirs in all particulars.

LATIN.

The College work in Latin embraces the study of Virgil's Æneid (4 books), Cicero's De Senectute, Livy (2 books), Tacitus' Germania, and Terence's Phormio, of Latin composition, and a study of Roman life and history.

GERMAN.

The German course includes masterpieces of German literature from Gœthe, Schiller, and Lessing, and modern idiomatic German as found in the comedies of Benedix, Arnold, Helbig, Moser, and Heiden.

MATHEMATICS.

Courses are given in plane trigonometry, solid geometry, and advanced algebra.

HISTORY.

Courses include the Critical Period of American History, the growth of the English Constitution, and Epochs in the History of Modern Europe.

ENGLISH.

Courses are given in the English Drama, English Essayists, and Nineteenth Century Poets. Theme writing receives especial attention; themes are criticized in the class or in conference with the instructor.

NATURAL SCIENCE.

Physics. The course includes physical measurements, lecture-room demonstrations, outside reading, problems, and laboratory work and note-books.

Chemistry. There are courses in the elements of chemistry with elementary qualitative analysis, laboratory work with note-books, and lecture-room experiments; in descriptive and industrial chemistry with elementary quantitative analysis.

Astronomy. There is a course in descriptive astronomy.

Geology. The course is upon structural, dynamic, geographic, and historical geology, with lectures, prescribed reading, laboratory work with note-books, and excursions.

BIBLE.

The studies prescribed by the American Institute of Sacred Literature are the basis of instruction. The courses are on the Founding of the Christian Church, the Foreshadowings of the Christ, and the Old Testament Sages.

LOGIC.

The outlines of normal logic are studied, with special attention to terms and their meaning, to the logical import of propositions with a view of inculcating accuracy of statement, and to analysis of arguments and detection of fallacies.

PSYCHOLOGY.

The course takes up the nervous system; sensation and the organs of sense; the facts of consciousness studied from the natural science point of view; perception, memory, imagination, emotion, the will; and the relation of psychology to philosophy and ethics.

ETHICS.

The subject of ethics is treated historically, and the various types of ethical theory are traced in their development from ancient times. Search is made for the elements of truth in all theories, and the superiority of the ethics of Christianity is shown.

CHRISTIAN EVIDENCES.

The object of this course is to acquaint the student with the various lines of proof of the divine origin of the Christian Religion.

ECONOMICS.

The course in economics gives especial attention to the production, distribution, and exchange of wealth.

SOCIOLOGY.

The course in sociology presents a general outline of the subject, and makes a special study of the social condition of the Negro race in city and country.

CHRISTIAN WORKERS DEPARTMENT.

The Christian Workers Department aims to furnish a good course of training for young women, in order to supply the need in missionary and church work for "the workman that needeth not to be ashamed." Believing the Bible to be God's perfect revelation of himself and his will, we make it the foundation of all our study. As there is increase in the knowledge of God, there comes a desire for fruitfulness in every good work. So we give instruction in all branches that fit for practical, intelligent Christian service. Special attention is given to Sunday-school work. Every week the lesson for the following Sunday is taught, with suggestions for adapting it to both primary and adult classes. Weekly lectures are also given on helpful and interesting topics.

The regular course covers two years, and may be outlined as follows: First Year. Synthetic studies in the Old Testament; Life of Christ; Bible lessons for Christian workers; Moral science; African missions and missionaries; Modern religious leaders—Spurgeon, Moody, Dr. Gordon, Phillips Brooks, Frances E. Willard, and others; Hand-Book of Nursing; Methods of teaching sewing; Practical work in Sunday-schools, temperance meetings, prayer-meetings, and visiting. Second Year. Life of Christ; Church history; History of the reformation and great reformers—Wyclif, Huss, Savonarola, Luther, Calvin, Knox; Foreign missions and great missionaries—Carey, Morrison, Judson; Theory of teaching and Bible teaching in the practice school; Religious and missionary reading; Practical work in Sunday-schools, temperance meetings, mothers' meetings, children's meetings, and visiting.

For the benefit of those who have not time or previous preparation for the full course, a partial course has been provided, in which the following subjects are taken up: Synthetic studies in the Old Testament; Life of Christ; Lessons for Christian workers; Physiology and hygiene.

Applicants for this department should have a good English education, maturity of character, and above all, an earnest Christian spirit and a zeal for Christian service.

TEACHERS PROFESSIONAL DEPARTMENT.

Teachers ought to have the best possible preparation to enable them to meet their heavy responsibilities in forming character and developing intellect. It is a serious mistake to hold that any one who has been to school can teach. Children are injured for life by being under unsuitable teachers. Experience has convinced educators that special schools should be attended by every one who wishes to enter upon teaching, just as special schools must be attended by all who wish to enter upon the practice of medicine. Quack doctors do less harm than incompetent teachers, for they can injure the body alone. Any conscientious person will shrink from teaching without making due preparation.

We give, in our Teachers Professional Department, very superior advantages for fitting for the profession of teaching.

Normal training, in the true sense, springs from a recognition of the fact that something more is necessary to the teacher than a knowledge of the subjects to be taught. She must have some knowledge of the principles of teaching, and of the powers and faculties of the pupils she is to teach; and, more important still, she should serve a kind of apprenticeship at the work, and actually teach, under the supervision of experienced teachers, the very subjects she will be required to teach when she takes charge of a school.

The Teachers Professional Department aims to supply the latter requirements. Taking the student after she has finished her academic course, and is supposed to be familiar with the subjects there taught, it gives her thorough instruction in the principles of teaching, and at the same time gives her thorough practice under the criticism of the normal teachers.

The course may be completed in one or more years, according to previous preparation. It embraces the following subjects:—

1. A thorough review of the elementary branches: reading, spelling, grammar, arithmetic, etc. When the normal teachers are satisfied that the pupil is sufficiently prepared, this may be dispensed with.
2. Instruction in psychology in its relation to the art of teaching.
3. Practical instruction in the history and philosophy of education.
4. Instruction in the most approved methods of teaching, embracing reading, spelling, grammar, language, geography, arithmetic, mental and written, general object lessons, penmanship, music, drawing, and physical culture.
5. Daily practice teaching under the criticism of the normal teachers. The practice work includes all the subjects mentioned in paragraph 4.

For the purpose of affording the necessary practice, there is connected with the Seminary in a building constructed for the purpose, a special graded Practice School, in which are taught all the subjects in which professional instruction is given.

Before receiving the certificate of the Teachers Professional Department, each pupil-teacher will be required to teach at least ten subjects, each subject for a period of eight weeks.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

Our College Preparatory Department fits for our college work. The course provides for three years' study of Latin, one of German, French, or Greek, and advanced algebra and geometry. After the second academic year, choice is offered of this course. Graduates from other schools will be admitted to our college course on passing satisfactory examination.

ACADEMIC DEPARTMENT.

In our Academic Department we teach all those branches usually included in an English high school course. We call attention to the following special features.

ENGLISH.

The language we habitually use is a sure index of our culture or ignorance. Accordingly we give great prominence to the study of the English language. Beginning in the English preparatory department with the reproduction of reading lessons and of stories, with letter-writing, and with simple descriptions, both oral and written, and adding in the higher classes the study of grammar, we devote four years in our academic course to composition, rhetoric, and literature. We believe that the ability to write English with ease and correctness, which is of primary importance whatever our calling in life, can be obtained only by constant practice with constant criticism; in short, that a girl should be taught to write much as she is taught to play the piano—not by committing rules, but by constant practice under a competent critic. Again, many who can write well cannot express themselves with ease orally. Extemporaneous speaking, which gives the confidence and fluency needed to express one's thoughts well, is a part of the rhetoric work.

Our object in literature is not to make biograhical dictionaries of our students, but to inspire them with a real love for the best literature. Hence, we devote much of our time to the study of master-pieces. Thus the student enlarges her vocabulary and acquires, almost unconsciously, a better style of writing. But our great aim is to inspire the student with a lifelong love for the true and the beautiful in the realm of thought by bringing her into contact with the greatest thoughts of the greatest minds, so that her mind may be broadened and her character ennobled.

Journalism is a field now open to young women. By practical work in reporting sermons, addresses, and entertainments, we fit our students to become correspondents of the press.

NATURAL SCIENCES.

The powers of observation are cultivated in our lower classes by general lessons upon plants and animals and general phenomena. In our academic department we study physiology, botany, physics, and chemistry, using such methods as will give us through life an intelligent interest in the works of God.

LATIN.

The study of Latin gives an understanding of the roots of so many English words and so enlarges one's vocabulary, that a short course is of inestimable value where time cannot be afforded for a thorough study. We have introduced Latin as an elective study in the second year of our academic course. It is continued only by those who choose the college preparatory course.

ENGLISH PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

The common English branches are thoroughly taught after the most approved methods in our English Preparatory Department. This department furnishes the Practice School for our normal students. The work is so arranged that promotions are made twice a year. We call special attention to this feature because new work is begun in February as well as in October. If it is impossible to enter in October, there is exactly the same chance of progress offered after Christmas.

NURSE TRAINING DEPARTMENT.

The Nurse Training Department has superior facilities for training nurses for the sick. MacVicar Hospital, new, modern, and fully equipped, contains thirty-one beds. It has a central administration building and two wings, one for any students who may be ill, and the other for outside surgical cases. The dean of the hospital and the superintendent of nurses are graduates of the Illinois Training School for Nurses attached to the Cook County and Presbyterian Hospitals of Chicago. The hospital staff consists of Atlanta physicians eminent in special lines. The course of study embraces all the subjects that concern caring for the sick after the most approved methods, such as hand-books of nursing, physiology and materia medica, taking the pulse, temperature, and respiration; fever nursing; nursing of contagious diseases; observations on the effect of medicine and diet; prevention and treatment of hemorrhages; bandaging and surgical dressings; dressing of bruises, burns, sores, and wounds; and keeping record charts.

Applicants for this department must have a good English education, a good moral character, and good health, and must be at least nineteen years of age. Nurses are on probation for three months. Their entire time for three school years must be given to study and practical work. If a month is lost from any cause, it must be made up before a diploma will be given.

INDUSTRIAL TRAINING DEPARTMENT.

Our Industrial Training Department aims to fit the student for the practical duties of life by training the hands for skill in labor. It develops character by forming habits of regularity, punctuality, neatness, thoroughness, accuracy, and application.

DOMESTIC ARTS.

Our boarding students, through their share in the daily routine of life, receive practical instruction in the care of rooms, in dish-washing, table-work, cooking and laundry work. Each pupil is expected to give one hour daily to house-work, some especial duty being assigned her.

Before graduation from our academic department each student takes a special course in domestic science, studying cooking both as a science and an art, with recitations as part of the regular school program, and with practical work out of school hours in both plain and fine cooking.

SEWING.

All classes in the grammar and intermediate departments are taught sewing. The course includes mending, darning, overhanding, stitching, hemming, basting, hem-turning, hem-stitching, button-hole making, and the cutting and making of under-garments.

DRESS-MAKING.

The full course in dress-making covers three years. The use of a chart for drafting is taught, and cutting, fitting, and finishing. Dress-making is elective.

PRINTING.

We teach compositor's work in our printing classes. Our printing office contains a small printing-press and all necessary equipments for printing. It issues monthly an eight-page school paper, the SPELMAN MESSENGER; it also prints our annual catalogue, besides the circulars, letter and bill heads, envelopes, programs, and cards required for school use. This work ensures instruction in a variety of type-setting. Printing is an elective.

MUSICAL DEPARTMENT.

VOCAL MUSIC.

Our course in vocal music includes lessons in breathing, tone production, scales, sight reading, expression, and chorus singing.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC.

An extra charge to cover expenses is made to those taking instrumental music. Instruction is given on both piano and organ, with special attention to the definition of musical terms and a thorough knowledge of the rudiments of music.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

RISE AND PROGRESS.

Spelman Seminary was started April 11, 1881, in the basement of Friendship Baptist Church, Atlanta, by Miss Sophia B. Packard and Miss Harriet E. Giles, missionaries sent from Boston by the Woman's American Baptist Home Mission Society. In February, 1883, it became a boarding-school and moved to the "Old Barracks," bought through the donations of friends. Every year brought growth—more teachers, more students, more friends, more land, more buildings, more departments. Miss Packard lived until 1891, and saw the school firmly established on a permanent basis. Since that time prosperity has continued under the blessing of God.

AIM.

Its aim is to furnish a broad, thorough, practical, Christian education to Negro young women, to develop Christian character, to send forth graduates who shall be home-makers, educators, leaders in social reforms, church workers, servants of Christ. Its motto is, Our whole school for Christ.

NAME.

It was named in memory of the parents of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, who were life-long friends of the Negro. Mr. Rockefeller has ever been the constant, generous friend of the Seminary, and one of its Trustees, and has invested large sums of money in its buildings and grounds.

LOCATION.

The Seminary is situated on high land a mile from the center of Atlanta, easily accessible by the Walker St. electric cars.

BUILDINGS.

On our twenty acres of rolling ground are seven brick buildings:—Reynolds Cottage, the President's residence; MacVicar Hospital; Rockefeller Hall, which contains the offices, public reception rooms, chapel, school-rooms for the academic department, and dormitories and study rooms for two hall groups; Packard Hall, in which are the library and reading-room, dining-rooms and kitchens, the printing-office and dress-making room, and dormitories and a study-hall; Giles Hall, built especially for the teachers professional work and for a practice school of three hundred students, with dormitories in the wings of the third story; a laundry, equipped with eighty-six new porcelain tubs and with steam-heated water; and a steam plant for the heating and electric lighting of all the buildings. Two other large brick buildings are to be completed before October next, Morgan Hall, to contain dining-halls, kitchens, and dormitories and study-halls for two hall groups; and Morehouse Hall, to contain dormitories and study-halls for two more groups. On the completion of these, three frame dormitories now in use will be removed.

EQUIPMENT.

Our buildings are suitably and comfortably furnished; our class-rooms are provided with reference books, maps, and charts; our science classes have a small laboratory and much valuable apparatus, including a telescope, a stereopticon, a microscope, and a human skeleton; our museum contains fine illustrative specimens; Quarles Library contains 3,500 catalogued volumes, and is provided by teachers and friends with the leading magazines.

RELIGIOUS CULTURE.

Christian Doctrines, Evidences of Christianity, Bible History, and Moral Science are included in our Academic Course. A systematic course of Bible study is taken up by all the classes. Daily expositions of the Bible are given to the entire school at morning devotions. A regular Sunday-school is held every Sunday, followed by a preaching service. Social purity, missionary, temperance, inquiry, and prayer meetings are held regularly. We have a Young Women's Christian Association, a Young Women's Christian Temperance Union, a Congo Mission Circle, a King's Messengers Band, and six Young People's Societies of Christian Endeavor.

FAMILY LIFE.

Our boarders are divided into several groups, each under a hall-teacher, who has full personal care of each member of her family, watching over her work, her habits, her study-hours, her recreation, her exercise, and her health. Every case of illness receives prompt attention.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Lectures, stereopticon exhibitions, concerts, and other pleasing and instructive entertainments are frequently given.

REGULATIONS.

1. Each student is expected to furnish her own towels and table napkins.
2. Clothing must be sensible, neat, and simple. Expensive dress and jewelry are out of place and in bad taste for school girls.
3. Dark skirts, thick shoes, rubbers, a waterproof, and an umbrella are needed.
4. Each article should be distinctly marked with the owner's name, and a list of articles should be brought.
5. Each trunk must be plainly marked with the owner's name.
6. Each student does her own laundry work.
7. Each student must give one hour a day to house work. This is a part of our plan to educate girls for home life. No girl is paid for this work.
8. Each pupil must study at night, but not later than nine o'clock.
9. Good order, diligence in study, neatness, cleanliness, industry, and economy are required of all.
10. Pupils must be courteous and polite to their school-mates and respectful and obedient to their teachers. No students are wanted or retained who have not sufficient character to appreciate their advantages, and to listen to reasonable advice and admonition.
11. Pupils will not be allowed to receive boxes of provisions.
12. Students will be charged for damage done by them to the property of the Seminary.
13. Visitors are always welcome to the exercises of the Seminary.
14. The pupils can receive their friends on Saturdays and during recreation hours, but not during regular exercises, nor on the Sabbath. No student should spend a single Sabbath away from the Seminary during term time.
15. Bills must be paid promptly. The books and trunk of any student leaving school with bills unpaid may be retained as security.
16. All students are expected to return to their homes at the close of school, and not to remain in Atlanta to make visits.

RECORDS.

A permanent record is kept of the scholarship, deportment, and manual labor of each student. The standing of any pupil can, at any time, be obtained from these records. Promotions will be made to those alone who have proved themselves worthy. Written tests of scholarship are given frequently.

DEGREES, DIPLOMAS, AND CERTIFICATES.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is given to those who honorably complete the college course. Diplomas are awarded to those who have completed the teachers professional, Christian workers, college preparatory, academic, and nurse training courses, and have passed all the required examinations, provided their deportment and moral character are satisfactory. Certificates are given to those who complete the courses in domestic arts, dress-making, and printing.

ADMISSION.

Applicants for admission are expected to bring testimonials of good moral character, and recommendations or certificates from the teacher of the school last attended. They will be examined and put in the classes they are prepared to enter. The first examination is held on the first day of school; another the last week in January. Students should arrive the day before the opening of school, so as to be present at the Chapel exercises at nine o'clock.

EXPENSES.

The school year of thirty-two weeks is divided into eight periods of four weeks each, and all fees are payable in advance. The pay-days for 1901–2 will be on Tuesdays as follows: Oct. 1, Oct. 29, Nov. 26, Dec. 24, Jan. 21, Feb. 18, March 18, Apr. 15. If at the end of the four weeks the board is unpaid, fifty cents extra is charged, and further delay renders the pupil liable to be suspended from recitations. No reduction can be made for absence for less than a week, nor for absence for a part of the first or last week of the term. If one advance payment is made for the entire year, a discount of six per cent will be allowed. No day-scholar will be examined for classification before tuition is paid for one month.

Instrumental music is extra. Those who learn dress-making must buy a chart, at a cost of four dollars. Books are sold to students at reduced rates. Students must bring extra money to pay for their books. There are no other extra expenses.

All money in payment of bills should be sent by money order, draft, registered letter, or express, directly to Miss Harriet E. Giles, treasurer, and not to the student. No other way is safe. Money should never be put into a letter, unless it is registered. Silver should never be sent by mail, as it often wears a hole through the envelope, and is lost. Send postage stamps, if necessary to make change.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

The Woman's American Baptist Home Mission Society supports sixteen of the teachers, besides aiding us in many other ways.

The help received from the Slater Fund has been of untold advantage to the Seminary. Without it the industrial department could not have been effectively carried on, and by it our normal work is now supported.

We heartily thank all individuals, churches, Sunday-schools, and societies who have so generously aided us.

Above all, we thank God for the abundant spiritual blessings of the past twenty years. About twelve hundred of our pupils have been brought to Christ, of whom seventy-five have been converted this year.

ENDOWMENT FUNDS.

The Monroe Fund, $5,000, the interest of which must be given to students preparing for missionary work in Africa.

The Howe Fund, $5,000, the income of $1,000 being at present available, the rest subject to annuities.

The Hanaford Fund, $800.

3. For the accomplishment of these objects, the trustees will establish such departments, schools and courses of study as they shall deem proper and needful, with power to confer such literary and honorary degrees as are wont to be conferred by academic and collegiate institutions in the United States.

4. The principal seat of said institution of learning to be in or near the city of Atlanta, in the State of Georgia.

5, The general powers of said corporation shall be those belonging to bodies corporate under the laws of the state of Georgia: to sue and be sued by the corporate name; to have and use a common seal, which it may change at pleasure; to acquire and hold property by purchase, gift, exchange or will, and to dispose of the same; to receive and hold trust and endowment funds and any property, real or personal, useful for the maintenance of an institution of Christian learning; to make and to change from time to time such by-laws binding on the members of the corporation as are not inconsistent with the laws of this state, or of the United States; to elect their successors and to have power to do all such acts as may be deemed necessary or best for the legitimate execution of its powers and the carrying out of its purposes.
